

Olivier Vigneron

Chief Risk Officer and Member of the Management Board

Appointed: 2022

Nationality: French

Languages: French, English

Career

Olivier re-joined Deutsche Bank in March 2022 and was appointed to the Management Board as Chief Risk Officer on May 20, 2022. He has over 22 years' banking experience in both business and infrastructure roles.

Prior to re-joining Deutsche Bank, Oliver was Chief Risk Officer of Natixis, where he also served on the Senior Management Committee.

Olivier's banking career began in structured credit training in 2000. He held roles at Goldman Sachs, Deutsche Bank, UniCredit and BNP Paribas, before joining JPMorgan in 2008 in Credit Hybrid Trading. He was appointed Firmwide Risk Executive for Market Risk in 2012. In 2017, he was appointed Chief Risk Officer for Europe, Middle East and Africa.

Olivier has also served on the Supervisory Board of J.P. Morgan Germany and on the Board of Natixis Assurances.

Education

Olivier studied at the Lycée Louis-le-Grand in Paris and holds degrees in Engineering and Economics from France's École Polytechnique. He also holds a PhD in Economics from the University of Chicago.